Vaad Report

by Sol B. Shinder

President, Ottawa Vaad Ha'Ir
(Jewish Community Council)

Jewish Community Centre

The most central of our local Jewish institutions is presently concluding a membership campaign and therefore I thought it would be appropriate for me to devote this column to the Jewish Community Centre in an attempt to place it in perspective with respect to its role in the Jewish Community of Ottawa.

The mandate of the Jewish Community Centre is to coordinate the social, cultural, recreational and physical education activities of the community. The Centre is the landlord at 151 Chapel Street. It is in that building that they conduct many of their programs, that the Vaad houses its offices, that the Talmud Torah Board operates one wing of the Hillel Academy Day School, that the Social Services Council has its offices, that many of the organizations in the community hold their meetings, that the Jewish Students Union conducts some of its programming and the list could go on.

The membership campaign has been positive and to date approximately seventy new members have been recruited and the retention of current members has held up. But more people in the community should be joining those of us who already belong to the Jewish Community Centre and I urge you to do so now.

The Centre has taken a new direction led by a capable Board of Directors presided over by Stephen Victor, their dynamic president. The administration of the Centre is now under the professional leadership of a young executive director, Larry Szpirglas, who has molded a team of qualified workers in all fields of the J.C.C. programming areas. These programs were set out in detail in the 1979-80 Program Guide which was circulated to the community this summer.

It contains activities for the whole community, the young, the not so young and for those in between, and it is now incumbent upon the community to register for and support those programs.

The physical fitness program includes a Health and Fitness Fair to be held on October 28 to 30 as well as the usual physical fitness classes and leagues for the young people.

The Adult Education programming includes a Jewish Book Month on November 17 to 19 at which the renowned author Chaim Potok will be speaking, as well as courses in pottery, painting in watercolours, human relations, Hebrew, a film series and a wide variety of other activities.

The social program has not been overlooked. The J.C.C. has recently opened a new Teen Lounge, an addition which hopefully will prove to be an attraction to our young people.

I am pleased that the Centre Board has seen fit to confine all of its activities to 151 Chapel Street, because the J.C.C. is larger than just the building. They have embarked upon an Outreach program with attempts at scheduling activities in some of the suburban areas such as Craig Henry-Arlingto Woods area. Arrangements have been made for use of Arlington Woods-Trend Community Centre, the Greenbank Middle School and the Knoxdale Public School for recreation programs for children ages 5-13 and for co-ed recreational evenings for adults. Those of you who are interested in these activities should call the Centre for details.

The outlook for the J.C.C. therefore looks very promising. The quantity and quality of the programs being offered this year are the most ambitious ever undertaken by the Centre and these are all offered to the Jewish community of Ottawa at a minimal cost. The success of these endeavours depends upon how many of us take time to take part in these programs. I am certain that those who participate will benefit from the experience.

The J.C.C. regularly announces its programs in this Bulletin and I suggest that you consult the Centre page to find out what is planned for the immediate future.

The Officers of the Vaad are pleased that this new spirit and direction is being given to the affairs of the Jewish Community Centre and we wish them well in this new programming year.

Meeting Highlights

from the reports submitted and decisions taken by the Board of Trustees on September 26, 1979

Ottawa Jewish Community Refugee Committee

On behalf of Rabbi Irving Schreier, Chairman of the Committee, Hy Hochberg reported that this body, set up by the Council to be the vehicle through which the Jewish Community of Ottawa will relate to Project 4000 and conduct its activities on behalf of the South-East Asian Refugees, has been incorporated and granted charitable organization status by the Government of Canada. An Umbrella Agreement has been signed; a Screening Committee formed; and the first sponsors (the Exodus Group) to come under its provisions, have been cleared. Several other Synagogue and private groups are in various stages of organization. A limited appeal for funds to back up the obligations assumed under the Umbrella Agreement is in preparation.

Tribute to Moe Appel

The Trustees were saddened to learn from the President, Sol Shinder, of the passing in Montreal of Moe Appel, a former Ottawa who retired recently as National Director of State of Israel Bonds and whose name was intimately linked with Zionist leadership and endeavour since before the creation of the State. A moment of silent tribute was observed in his memory.

Israel Bond Drive

Gladys Greenberg, Chairman of the Women's Division of State of Israel Bonds, reporting for husband John who is General Chairman, said that the 1979 Drive is doing nicely and that commitments are ahead as compared with figures at this time last year. Efforts are currently being geared up for the Yom Kippur Appeals in all Synagogues. The goal is $1 million in sales this year. The vital role which Bond money plays was underscored by Mrs. Greenberg as she called for an unprecedented effort to meet the tremendous relocation costs Israel faces in the aftermath of the peace agreement with Egypt.

Jewish Students Union

Bettina Liverant, President of the Jewish Students Union, gave an encouraging report on program planning for the current year which should heighten the involvement of increasing numbers of university students in J.S.U. activities. There are now well over 500 names on the mailing list and the first of their programs, Cafe Tel Aviv, attracted more than one hundred people.

A new structure has been developed which comprises representatives from the students and the funding agents, the Jewish Community Council and the B'nai B'rith Lodges and Chapters. This Board of Directors has authorized the engagement of a co-ordinator as of October 1, who will devote himself exclusively to the needs of the university community in the city. The budget is $24,000., to be shared equally by the Vaad and B'nai B'rith. The Vaad's half was approved. Student representatives of J.S.U. will sit on the Board of Trustees.

United Jewish Appeal

The President announced the appointment of Lorry Greenberg as General Chairman of the 1980 United Jewish Appeal and expressed confidence that the campaign will achieve new heights under his leadership. Mr. Shinder also took this opportunity to once again commend Chick Taylor for his outstanding performance as General Chairman of the 1979 Campaign.

Standing Committee Chairmen

On the recommendation of the Executive Committee, the Board approved the appointment of Chairmen of the Standing Committees of the Council for 1979-80. The listing will be contained in the next issue of the Ottawa Jewish Bulletin.

Jewish Social Services Council

The meeting considered the report of the Jewish Social Services Council presented by its Chairman, Alex J. Cohen to the Executive Committee and passed on to the Trustees for their information. After considerable discussion, the following resolution introduced by Joseph Lieff on behalf of the Executive Committee, was approved:

"Whereas the Executive Committee is satisfied that the Jewish Social Services Council and its Jewish Information and Referral Service and Services for Jewish Elderly have demonstrated during their two-year experiment that there is a need in the Ottawa Jewish Community for a continuation of these programs as well as counselling and related social services;

Be it resolved:

- a) that a new beneficiary agency to be known as the Jewish Social Services Agency of Ottawa-Carleton be authorized as of November 1, 1979 and that it be so incorporated;

- b) that its initial mandate be for a two-year period ending June 30, 1981 and that prior to that time, the program and services be evaluated;

- c) that a Jewish community operating subsidy of $22,000 per year be approved for this agency on the understanding that the income projected in the report of the Social Services Council is realized."

Integrated Planning and Budgeting

The Trustees had previously received a proposal for the establishment of an integrated planning, budgeting and allocations system which the Executive Committee felt was needed to replace the existing budget and allocations structure. Gerald Berger tabled the proposal on behalf of the Executive Committee and explained the objectives of the new approach and the way in which the system will work. Briefly stated, the plan calls for the creation of four planning and budgeting panels composed of representatives from the agencies who now function in the areas of Jewish education, communal and group services, social services and national and overseas services. Representatives from the Board of Trustees and community-at-large will also sit on these committees.

They will meet on an ongoing basis throughout the year to achieve co-ordination of services, to evaluate programs, to identify new or unmet needs and to develop the information needed for making the budgeting decisions before and not after the fact, based on communal priorities and available resources. Other panels on long-range planning and grants and resource development were also included in the over-all scheme.

After some debate on the pros and cons, the proposal was approved by majority vote.

Adath Shalom Congregation

On the recommendation of the Executive Committee, the Board approved the admission to membership of the Adath Shalom Congregation which has satisfied the requirements stipulated in the Constitution of the Council. The Congregation will be represented on the Board by Lyon Gilbert and Howard Ross.

Selection of Speakers by Organizations

In light of a recent experience, the President suggested that it would be in the interests of the community if organizations intending to invite speakers on sensitive issues would first consult with the Community Relations Committee of the Council. Mr. Shinder pointed out that this should in no way be seen as an infringement on the autonomy of any group but rather as a safeguard against placing the community in an untenable position.

The Sukkah is a Peace Symbol

by Rabbi Reuven P. Bulka

It is an unlikely observance at an unlikely time. Nevertheless, Jews all around the world at this time of the year leave the comforts of their regular abode to spend time living in a flimsy hut, known as a "Sukkah."

This time of the year is the Festival of Sukkot, or Tabernacles. It is a joyous and celebrative festival and is observed in Israel for seven days and outside Israel for eight days. The Festival of Sukkot is followed by a day of solemn assembly known as "Shmini Atzeret" and by "Simchat Torah", the joyous celebration of the conclusion of the cycle of Biblical readings.

The predominant themes in this festive period are "nature" and "peace". In Biblical times, a total of seventy sacrifices were brought in the Temple, symbolic of the seventy nations of the world. At the same time, the Sukkah, or hut, is in itself a peace symbol. It is made of natural material and Jewish law dictates that the roofing be of foliage. In warmer climates, one is likely to find families who actually live, eat and sleep in the Sukkah. North American weather conditions do not allow for such expression (hopefully it won't snow on Sukkot), so that the main observance during the festival revolves around having meals in the Sukkah.

We live in an age when protection from attack is expressed through building of bomb shelters and fall-out shelters. To be sure, bomb shelters and fall-out shelters are not symbols of peace — they are symbols of war. They point to the protection necessary in the face of potential devastation. A hut, on the other hand, unprotected, wide open, and flimsy in nature, symbolizes true peace or a situation where harmony is so engrained in the society that one feels protected even in a hut.

A second observance associated with the Festival of Sukkot is the shaking of four species. The palm branch, flanked on the right side by three myrtles and on the left by two willows, is grasped together with a citron and independently, as well as in various parts of the service, is shaken towards east, south, west, and north, up and down, towards heaven and towards earth.

According to Rabbinic tradition, the palm branch symbolizes the spine, the mystic — the eye, the willow — the mouth, and the citron — the heart. It, therefore, amalgamates symbolically, the heart or the conscience, the spine or moral posture, the mouth or verbal expression, and the eyes or the outlook on the world into a fused expression. The expression in the main is directed towards the elements within nature that are necessary for a thriving world order.

In other words, Sukkot is the time that Jews gather together to ask for good weather conditions so that crops may grow and people be adequately fed. The primary expression of Sukkot is one of yearning for outer and inner peace; the outer peace that is desired is one in which people and nations live in harmony and mutual co-operation. The inner peace is one in which the earth combines with the heavens to yield to people that which they need in order to live comfortably. These yearnings are expressed tangibly by Jews all over the world on the Festival of Sukkot. This expression is not a parochial one, but rather reflects all our hopes and aspirations for the future.

Fulfill Holiday Commitments

The gratitude of the Israel Bond Organization of Ottawa to all the members of our community who committed themselves to the purchase of State of Israel Bonds was expressed by John Greenberg, General Campaign Chairman, and by Gladys Greenberg, Women's Division Chairman:

"Hundreds of our fellow Jews in Ottawa faced their responsibilities this New Year by reaffirming their faith in Israel and its people and they did so in the most effective and eloquent way-by investment in Israel Bonds. We express our deep thanks to each and every one of these supporters. We hope that they will, during these Holy Days, fulfill their commitments by paying for their Bond purchase and thus speeding the flow of dollars to Israel. Israel needs dollars immediately to meet the challenge of the Peace Treaty. Within three short years, thousands of civilian and military personnel must be shifted from the Sinai to the Negev — a largely underdeveloped area. The cost is estimated to be many billions of dollars of which only a percentage is covered by U.S. government aids, primarily loans at normal commercial interest rates. An accelerated infrastructure development—energy, water, communications, transportation, industries, jobs—must be completed in a very short time to make the Negev habitable for the new settlers.

"Only through prompt payment of the Bonds can Israel begin to have the funds necessary for these and other development needs. We urge everyone to pay as quickly as possible.

"In this year of movement towards a meaningful peace, the burdens that Israel bears must be shared by each family. A 1979 Israel Bond for every home is the most effective way in which we can share that burden. Israel counts on our support—we must not ignore her needs".

The Israel Bond Drive during the Yom Kippur services in the synagogues marks the beginning and not the end of the 1979 campaign. Those who failed to respond may still demonstrate their support for Israel through an Israel Bond purchase. A visit or telephone call to the Israel Bond Office at 168 Charlotte St., Suite 504 (236-7139) will enable you to join the increasing number of community members who have had their names inscribed in the Peace Book as "Partners in Peace" and as symbolic co-signers with Prime Minister Begin of the Peace Treaty with Egypt.

The names of all Partners in Peace will be sent to Israel for display in the Truman Peace Center in Jerusalem.

The lithograph created by Phillip Ratner which will be awarded to U.S. and Canadian synagogues participating in the High Holy Day State of Israel Bond Appeal. It shows the prophet Isaiah holding a sword which is turning into a plowshare, against a brightly coloured background of the Judean Mountains.

Glustein Family Reunion

One of the largest family reunions in the history of the Ottawa Jewish community was held on Sunday, September 2, to honour the memory of the late Rev. Herschel Glustein and his late wife Sarah.

Over 100 persons, the direct descendants and their families, attended the get-together at the home of Sam and great-granddaughter Roslyn Gerzon, 15 Northview Road.

Included were the eight surviving children, whose combined ages total more than 600 years. They were Esther Baker, widow of Tevya Baker, whose four-score and 10 years make her the matriarch of the family, Chaim Glustein, Jack Gladstone, Mrs. Leiser (Fanny) Osterer, Mrs. Gus (Eva) Dutnoff, Mrs. Benny (Mary) Rosenblatt, Israel Glustein and the late Robbie Glustein. There had been two deceased children: Dora Litwack, whose husband Jack survives, and Jennie Skulsky, wife of the late Sam Skulsky.

Rev. Herschel Glustein and his wife came to Ottawa from the Ukraine in 1912 with their children ranging in age from four to 24 years. They settled in the Billings Bridge area which was largely a community of Jewish farmers at that time.

He was the first cantor of the old Sons of Jacob Synagogue on James Street, and in his earlier years here officiated at services held in the various homes of the Billings Bridge Jewish pioneers.

The surviving children have remained in Ottawa, and have been active in Jewish community and religious affairs since their arrival.

It was the first full-scale Glustein family reunion bringing grandparents, uncles, aunts, cousins and other relatives together from Ottawa and other cities. The youngest member of the family at the reunion was five-month-old Ellen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Shustik, of Montreal, and great-granddaughter of Esther Baker.

Mazel Tov

A daughter, Adrienne Maxine, was born on September 9 at Riverside Hospital to Merle and Guy Haltrecht/Matte. Grandmother is Sylvia Haltrecht.

Jewish Community Centre News

JSU Plans Social and Political Activities

This year, the Year of the Jewish Student, is going to be "a real happening". With two high-powered programs behind us, a 500+ mailing list—thanks to the efforts of Mike Polowin and his very active committee—and a full schedule of active social and political programming planned, the Jewish Students Union is off to a very healthy start.

This year J.S.U. sees itself as a very real part of the greater Ottawa community. We would like to encourage university aged people to come out to the programs and get involved. To become part of the process, call Bettina Liverant (731-9294) or leave your name at the Jewish Community Centre (232-7306).

Greater Representation to Vaad

Following along in this spirit, the J.S.U. is hoping to take a more active role within the Jewish community of this city. With our increased membership, and highly motivated individuals, it is our feeling that we are in position to make a contribution. This year there will be Jewish Students Union representatives to the Vaad Board of Trustees, thus creating an important link between students, campus and community.

Special thanks for their efforts over the summer months are extended to Rebecca Guiot, Howard Yegendorf, Barry Edson, Mike Polowin, Peggy Kleinplatz, Mike Katz, Steve Agulnik, Sheldon Filger, Professor Max Richter, Bettina Liverant, Leib Zeisler, and to Larry Szpirglas and Sam Asher of the Jewish Community Centre and Vaad, who provided staff support.

Café Tel Aviv

As in the past, this year's Jewish Students' Union activities were initiated with a J.S.U. happening on September 15, Café Tel Aviv. The "Café" is the gathering of the Jewish students and their Jewish Professors to meet and hopefully develop relationships within the relaxed atmosphere of an "old fashioned good-time" social.

And this year's Café Tel Aviv was really a good time. It was well-organized, thanks to the efforts of Mike Katz, Peggy Kleinplatz and Samuel Asher. The entertainment was great, by the ever-popular local group of Mark Mead and Steve Kennedy, and the turnout was good (80+). Special thanks to Professor Richter of the Ottawa University Medical Department for lobbying the professors to attend. This year's J.S.U. kick-off program was a real proverbial smash. See you there next year....

Neo-Nazi Symposium

On the night following Café Tel Aviv, September 16, an intensely interested group of students heard Ben Kayfetz, Director of Central Region of the Canadian Jewish Congress, and Sheldon Filger, a fourth year Honours Student in Religion, present a symposium on neo-Nazi activities in the U.S. and Canada.

The multi-media presentation not only included the history of these groups, but also examined their psychological make-ups, the neo-Nazi effect on the general population, and the best ways for us to handle neo-Nazis and their insidious messages.

The symposium, co-sponsored by the Jewish Students Union and the Carleton Liberal Religious Society, will be reported on by the "Charleton", the campus newspaper, and might be repackaged for a presentation on CKCU-FM, the Carleton/ community radio station.

I recently had the opportunity of speaking to Kadimah Chapter of ORT on the subject of Cults in the Ottawa area. Although publicity about cult movements has been negligible of late, this fact certainly does not mean that their effect on the community is no longer felt. Young men and women still knock on doors selling flowers, cookies, etc., all for the "Unification Church" or some other fringe cult.

Don't be fooled. These cults still bring in thousands of dollars for the Moonies cause and as concerned Jews we must not lend any type of financial support for these cultists. If approached, walk away, if they knock on your door, demand to know what and whom they represent. Remember the Unification Church (Moonies) have at least 100 front organizations with such labels as: World Freedom Institute Canadian Youth for Peace Korean Folk Ballet New Hope Singers International

It is only through education that one can really come to terms with the potential dangers of these cults. Any persons or group requiring information about cult activities in the Ottawa area please feel free to call the Cult Information Centre at the Youth Office of the J.C.C. at 232-7306.

Teen Council

Our first Teen Council Meeting was held on September 13 at the J.C.C. Present at this meeting were: Toba Goldenberg — Yonim BBG Beth Kerzner — Yonim BBG Mike Powell — Temple Israel Youth

Tal Gilboa — B'shert BBG Alex Lithwick — USY Alan Bronstein — DROR Ron Levitan — Youth Chairman — Agudath Israel Gordon Allice — Youth Chairman — Machzikei Hadas

Bernie Farber — J.C.C. Staff

As you can see by the attendance, interest in this year's Teen Council is quite high. With this type of support, it is hoped that two very important projects will be started early this month. The first is a Teen Newspaper with a listing of all area Jewish Youth groups, their purposes and goals, along with interesting and informative articles for Jewish Teens. By the way, we are looking for a Teen Council graphic logo, some drawing that can represent the council. A contest will soon be announced to find one. All you budding artists, watch for the first issue of the Teen Newspaper.

Secondly, a "Who's Who" Teen Telephone Directory is also in the making.

Star Wars Extravaganza

Please take note that the Star Wars Extravaganza originally scheduled for October 20 has been re-scheduled to Saturday, October 27 at 8:00 p.m.

More information and a flyer will be arriving in your homes shortly. This first major event being jointly sponsored by the Teen Council Member groups should prove to be quite an event. Try not to miss it.

By the way, if you are not on the J.C.C. teen mailing list please make yourself known to me by phoning the Teen Office at 232-7306.

Exciting Events Scheduled for Arts Alive

Appearing with this article is our new logo. Always look for it from now until November 17. There is loads of information to come!

As in all previous book fairs, there will be plenty of books for all ages. The Arts Alive Committee gratefully acknowledges the invaluable assistance and advice given by Dan Mozesky, owner of Prospero Books. Thanks to Dan and the book selection committee, a wide selection of material will be available.

As always, the Sisterhoods will be selling items from their respective gift shops, along with some new additions. Adath Shalom will have T-shirts for sale. These aren't your usual iron-ons; order one and have your name printed in Hebrew. Temple Israel is planning a photo booth, so come with your entire family. Processing will be done on the spot. Hillel Lodge will be selling handicrafts made by residents and volunteers.

Plan to visit the craft fair in the Social Hall. Local Jewish artisans will be exhibiting and selling crafts including macrame, lampshades, hand-spinning and weaving, ceramics, graphic designs, silver, acrylic sculpture, photographs, pottery, tapestries, batik, quilting, and stained glass designs.

Don't forget about Chaim Potok and Dora Wasserman's Yiddish musical, "A Bintel Brief". Tickets will be available at synagogues and the J.C.C. after October 15.

All children under the age of 13 are invited to enter the poster competition. Entries may be mailed to the J.C.C. (attention: Nina Alexandor) or delivered to the switchboard no later than October 31. Children are asked to draw or paint a picture relating to this year's JWB Book Month theme, "Books—Our Heritage". Be sure to print clearly on the back of the entry the child's name, age and telephone number.

17, 18, 19 NOVEMBER '79

There will be programs galore for everyone, ages 3 and up. Babysitting will be available for children under 3. For more program information, see the next issue of the Bulletin.

We continue to take any and all used books. Drop boxes are located at all synagogues and the J.C.C. If you are unable to transport the books yourself, call Nancy Zalman at the J.C.C. or 829-3758.

If you would like to help man a booth, take tickets, be a guide or just plain help, call Nina Alexandor, 232-7306.

OTTAWA JEWISH SINGLES CLUB

The month of August saw our dance at the Jack Purcell Community Centre. A pleasant room, enjoyable people and fantastic music were the ingredients that made the evening enjoyable. The disco dance contest ended in a tie which finally had to be decided with the toss of a coin. Those who attended really enjoyed the evening.

The membership has been informed of elections for all positions. Reflecting the continual growth of our club, a stronger executive is expected to emerge. More dedicated and energetic persons will direct our policies and activities so that this club will continue to expand and strengthen. New ideas and programs are being planned in addition to those which were so successful during the past year. Watch this bulletin for further details.

Message from

Reuben Lightstone

As I look back over the past eleven months, I am both proud and sad. Proud of all us single adults who came forward and revived the dead and buried club, proud of our accomplishments and particularly proud to have met, worked with and worked for so many fine people. Sad to know there are so many lonely Jewish single adults who have not enjoyed the friendship our club has to offer.

My sincere wishes for a very successful year go to the new Executive to whom I pledge my fullest support in all their endeavours.

May I take this opportunity to wish all Jewish Single Adults a Healthy and Happy New Year.

Israel Bond Conference told

Exports Increase by 13%

U.S. and Canadian delegates at a recent Toronto Israel Bond Leadership Conference were told that with Israel Bond aid in developing the nation's economic infrastructure, industrial and agricultural exports for the first seven months of 1979 reached a record $2 billion over the same period the previous year. Overall exports to date have shown an increase of 13 per cent over 1978.

At the same time, the 1,000 delegates attending the conference at the Royal York Hotel, learned that the escalating cost of Israel's oil imports in 1979 would reach the "staggering amount" of $1.5 billion compared to $760-million in 1978, according to a report issued by Simha Erlich, Israel's Minister of Finance. Two major Israeli oil sources, Iran and the Alma oil fields in the Sinai, which are being returned to Egypt under the terms of the peace treaty, represented 80 per cent of the nation's oil supply.

Participating in the Bond Conference from Ottawa were Mrs. Sonia Kizell, Mr. and Mrs. William Grossman and Mr. and Mrs. John Greenberg. Mrs. Kizell and Mr. Grossman are members of the Executive Committee of the Ottawa Israel Bond Organization. Gladys Greenberg is Chairman of the Women's Division while John Greenberg serves as General Campaign Chairman.

Speaking at a reception at the Toronto City Hall, Sam Rothberg, of Peoria, Illinois, General Chairman of the Israel Bond Organization, told the delegates from 68 communities in the United States and Canada that the conference will launch a massive effort for the sale of a new $1 billion Economic Development for Peace Loan. The delegates were welcomed by Paul V. Godfrey, Chairman of the Metropolitan Toronto Council, and George Cohen, National Campaign Chairman for Israel Bonds, Canada.

It was also reported that the cost of redeployment to the Negev from the Sinai, necessitated by the Israel-Egypt peace treaty, would cost billions. This sum includes the evacuation of Israelis from the Sinai and the rebuilding of installations, including three airports. In addition, Israel will have to evacuate fifteen civilian settlements and the city of Yamit.

Mr. Rothberg stressed that the $1-billion Economic Development for Peace Loan represents only a portion of larger sums needed for the industrialization of the Negev, Israel's Southern desert region and other parts of the country.

The delegates received an economic report which outlines some of the other projects to be aided by Israel Bonds: The search for energy water development and exploration, natural resources, new industrial parks and the expansion of existing facilities, roads, cement production, airport expansion, harbor improvement and railroads.

ISRAEL'S PROBLEMS

Dear Editor:

As Israel enters a new year, it faces its toughest struggle for political survival. Since the signing of the peace agreement, political unrest in the Middle East has risen. Egypt's move to sign a separate peace with Israel has contributed to the political turmoil. As the result of this move, Egypt was labelled a traitor by the Arab League, especially OPEC countries. Due to this separation, the oil countries have once again used oil and oil money to bring about western support for their cause. Also, the traditionally moderate Arab states such as Saudi Arabia and Jordan have recently become more militant.

For many years Israel has received 30% to 50% of its oil from Iran. Since the takeover of Iran by Khomeini, Israel's oil resources from that country have been completely depleted. Due to the fact that OPEC has also relinquished Egypt's oil supply and because of Israel's need to purchase oil from Egypt, both Israel and Egypt are now totally dependent upon western oil.

Since the dismissal of the U.S. ambassador to the UN Andrew Young, the American negro community is riding on a wave of anti-Israel and anti-semitic sentiments. American PLO envoys take advantage of the situation, adding fuel to the fire.

A question to keep in mind is whether the reaction of the Carter administration to Young's meeting with the PLO shows the US's real policy. With the increase of oil troubles in the Middle East, the west, and the rest of the world, the U.S. appears to be shifting its pro-Israel policy. It looks like a gloomy year for Israel.

MIZRACHI PROJECT

Dear Editors:

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the many friends who generously supported the Givat Mordechai Nursery and Day Care Centre in Jerusalem—a project of the Mizrahi women of Canada. The overwhelming response was due to the high esteem in which the late Mrs. Clara Brunberg, of blessed memory, was held by this community. May her dedication to Israel, and all good causes, serve as an inspiration to us all.

MR. FAHMY'S COMMENTS

To whom it may concern, Approximately three hundred Jews were present to hear His Excellency Hassan Fahmy, Egyptian Ambassador to Canada, address the Bytown Lodge of B'nai B'rith. I came, naively perhaps, expecting to hear a diplomat discuss the price Israel must inevitably pay for peace. I was prepared to welcome Mr. Fahmy warmly as a representative of the one neighbour who seems even remotely interested in the peace which we have sought for so long. I was, like most of the audience, ill-prepared for his lack of subtlety, for his aggressive accusations. Shocked as I was, I accorded him his right to express his views even though a more positive expression would have been more appropriate in this forum.

In retrospect, I am grateful to Hassan Fahmy for rudely jarring my complacent hopes about Israel's peace prospects. His obvious contempt reminded me that much hatred must yet be unlearned, many compromises made if peace is to become a reality.

The shock and indignation against Mr. Fahmy have subsided and have been replaced by a sense of shame, for myself and for my fellow Jews, who, in our infinite politeness, allowed Mr. Fahmy to go unchallenged. We passively listened to him accuse Israel of "genocide". What word should evoke more wrath from a Jew? Yet we sat, swallowing our pride and dignity as we had our dinner.

Our silence was unforgivable and, as Jews, we must ask if our failure to respond is not all too typical of the diaspora's response to Israel. We need not prove to each other or to the world that Israel is innocent of genocide. We know it to be true. However, we must prove that we care enough to defend her honour and our own.

Let us not allow silence to remain our policy. Israel has done much for our self-respect but we must become a source of our own pride. Rosh Hashanah is a time of reassessment and recommitment. Let us use it wisely and generously.

LAURIE PASCOE

The need for such a service was recognized by the Jewish Community Council as the influx of out-of-towners grew. It was based on the view that not only do we owe Jewish newcomers a warm welcome but that a properly-welcomed family or individual will integrate faster and better into the Jewish community.

Since the participation of new people is vital to support the growing needs of the community, the Vaad, in the fall of 1977 made the Shalom Welcome Service one of its standing committees and appointed Susannah Dalfen, a main proponent of the service, the first chairman.

This year, the Committee is chaired by Laurie Pascoe who has been actively involved since shortly after its inception. Mr. Pascoe chaired the meeting at which time steps were taken to organize the volunteers, update the brochure and arrange the first wine and cheese party to be held on Sunday November 11.

There were also discussions about improving the service and it was decided to give the program more publicity so that additional names would be forthcoming. A more controlled organization was established so that newcomers are contacted as soon as possible after their arrival and by the most suitable volunteer. A better follow up procedure was also agreed upon. The possibility of teenage volunteers was also raised and it was agreed that more volunteers of all age groups should be recruited. The meeting ended with the feeling that the Shalom Welcome Service was on its way to having a successful year.

Anyone wishing to become a volunteer welcomer is asked to call Freda Frankel at 232-7306.
